Summer '92

Summer Conference Coordinators and RA's created colorful bulletin boards depicting "Summer at Longwood."

Summer is always an exciting time during a college student's life, especially those who go to Longwood. Some chose to stay in Farmville for the various summer sessions and new student orientation. Dr. Jordan's Anthropology classes were as popular as ever. Wende Davis and Rich Bell never thought a class could be so interesting and rewarding. Summer school students got to experience first hand all the construction going on this summer. At first, they were unable to find an entrance to Blackwell Dining Hall, but quickly found Tina waiting to check their ID's at the back door. The post office consisted of one room and the students sorted for their own mail. For those unlucky souls who lived in Curry and Frazer, construction workers were their 6:00 am. alarm clock, tearing down walls and constructing the new front desks. The new residence hall (ARC) opened a little later than expected, due to fire inspections, but finally was able to be used for summer conferences. Lancer Cafe was the big hangout and a "cool" place to study, eat, and do homework. Macado's cooled the students' pallets with quarter drafts every Wednesday night. Occasionally, such stars as Cindy Crawford, Richard Gere, James Earl Jones, and Jodie Foster were spotted in our small farm town while filming the box office success, Somersby. Some students were used as extras in the court house and other various scenes. One student entered Par-Bill's and ran into Cindy. He was so embarrassed he completely forgot what he was there to purchase. All-in-all, Farmville isn't such a bad place to spend a summer vacation.

The Orientation Leaders for Preview '92.

New student orientation was a big success, as always. With Mary Kaye Cochran as advisor and orientation co-chairs, Christina Galloway and Zhan Chaplan, nothing could go wrong. Orientation Leaders starred in a new skit portraying more real-to-college life occurrences and the Couch Potato skit found new life with the male and female roles being reversed. The couch potatoes were played by Senior Class President, Tara Confalone and her sidekick, Jelly. Dave Rettig, Dr. McWee, Nancy Haga, and Phyllis Mable made their usual appearances. Students and parents were enlightened to find out about loft regulations, the phone system, what a professor expects, and how to succeed at Longwood. Seminar classes met and once again confused freshmen registered for Zoology expecting to study zoo animals. The Orientation Leaders' team spirit was highly evident. Kidding around and practical jokes consumed their free time. The annual night out to Macado's was covered by Julianna Hardy's credit card and everyone knows that Erin McCay "just loves Longwood" and Sharnise Hamlin plays an excellent school drunk. New students saw their decision to attend Longwood was truly a "Vote for Tomorrow."

Other students opted to spend their summer vacation at the beach, either Virginia Beach, Nags Head, or Ocean City. Pictured to the side is Scot Blackmon. Here he is shown at one of the numerous guard parties in Virginia Beach. For years, many Longwood students have been either Resort Guards or Rental Attendants for the Virginia Beach Lifesaving Service. All of Longwood's students enjoyed a fun filled and relaxing summer. August came all too soon and we were rejoined in Farmville, Virginia for an exciting, challenging, and tradition-filled academic year. The Virginian staff hopes that you enjoy this year-long look at the "People of Longwood College 1993."

—Julie Michelle Wiley

August

"New & Improved"

Members of the Intramural Staff officially opened the Fitness Trail.

While characters in the Disney movie, Aladdin, were singing about "a whole new world," new and old Longwood students were humming the same tune. Freshmen and transfers were attempting to find their classrooms, while old students were trying to get into their mailboxes. Fall orientation invited Richard Keeling from UVA to speak about the combination of alcohol, drugs, and college life. The traditional Honor Ceremony introduced new students to the Longwood Honor Code, and they signed their pledge cards promising to be honorable. Old students returned to find their campus drastically changed in more ways than one. The new New Smoker was almost complete, there were remodeled front desks in Curry and Frazer, the Fitness Trail was in place and a stylish remodeled post office to accompany the schools new zip code, but most importantly the new residence hall (ARC-Academic Residential Community) opened for the first Longwood students to move into it. Students could also see the beginnings of a new baseball field.

On top of the new environment, Longwood also welcomed a new Vice President of Academic Affairs, a new Dean of Students, and a couple of new organizations. Dr. Darryl Poole and Dr. Tim Pierson were excellent additions to the Longwood community. Chapters of NOW, the National Organization for Women, and GAMMA, Greeks Advocating the Mature Management of Alcohol, were founded at Longwood during the Fall. Most importantly a new fraternity colony of Phi Kappa Tau joined the prominent Greek community at Longwood. Brian Weaver was named their first chapter president. Pictured at the bottom is the fraternity's original rush flyer.

The newest residence hall ARC, Academic Residential Community.

Students were excited to be back together with their friends, but hated going through the process of beginning classes, buying books, and eating dining hall food once again. I've always said I would love to just live at school and not have to do any work for my classes.

On March 17, 1906 these four men founded an organization based on: Christian ideas; the Democratic nature of organization; and the belief in an individual's innate worth as a qualification for membership.

It is time for history to repeat itself.

If you are up for a challenge, Phi Kappa Tau is looking for Founding Fathers for our newest chapter at Longwood College.

September

The beginning of September marked a time honored tradition at Longwood, Convocation. This ceremony is the offical capping of the senior class. Members of the senior class asked underclassmen to be their junior buddies and make their tassel. Their tassel is very special souvenir to the senior because it included various memories from their years at Longwood. Convocation speaker was the new Vice President of Academic Affairs, Dr. Darryl Poole. He spoke on his very interesting philosophy of the empty beer can. The emphasis was placed on the method of "how you think" versus "what you think". On the platform, the senior class was represented by Senior Class President Tara Confalone, Vice President Shannon Nunnally, Bryce Davis, Susan Curry, and Indira Etwaroo.

This month, The Rotunda enjoyed stirring up controversy. In the Sept. 7th edition of The Rotunda, Editor Erin McCay commented on the improper methods the yearbook staff took to get funding. I would like to take this opportunity to respond to her words. As editor, I had no idea how to go about asking the school for money to revive the book. Julie Lindsay, a staff member and SGA senator, said that she would help because she did know the proceedure. Maybe Julie L.'s actions were incorrect, but she was doing it for her school and for the yearbook. Obviously by you reading this paragraph, and holding this book, whatever Miss Lindsay did, it was worth it. In five years, Longwood alumni are more likely to have a yearbook sitting on a shelf, than a couple of editons of the Rotunda.

While on the subject of The Rotunda, September marked the month of their scandalist SEX issue. Papers went fast when students heard that there were condoms placed inside. The Richmond Times Dispatch even ran a story about the Sept. 21, 1993 editon of The Rotunda, and supposedly a couple of administrators were upset. They have every right, it was a tacky ploy to gain readers.

The senior brothers of Tau Kappa Epsilon enjoyed showing off their tassels in a group picture.

Junior Marshals, Julie Lindsay and Christina Galloway, performed the first duties of their job. Obviously, it wasn't that bad.

Oktober

Dr. Dorrill and his wife, Marty enjoyed the Oktoberfest booths on Stubbs Lawn.

You may look at the headline and think someone on the Virginian staff made a bad typo, but at Longwood you are allowed to spell October, "Oktober". All Longwood students, present and Alumnus, knew this year that with October came the tradition of OKTOBERFEST. Geist member and President Betsy Gee commented about how much she enjoyed being behind the scenes of Oktoberfest and see all the plans be executed. Geist '92 can be commended for their incredible job of planning and coordinating. As usual, Oktoberfest was a fun-filled, exciting weekend, the only thing missing was an annual sleazy fraternity party in Frazer, but Oktoberfest was better without it.

Other hapenings with Longwood during this month, a student was grazed by a bullet, ARC was flooded by a fire, and Matthew Sweet visited our campus for a concert. At approximately 2:00 a.m. on Sunday, October 4, 1992, in the parking lot in front of Subway, a Longwood student was grazed by a bullet after fighting with a townie. The wound required minor medical attention and no stiches. A lesson was learned by all after this incident. On Saturday, October 10, 1993 Longwood's newest residence hall was the location of the campus' third fire in recent history. The cause of the fire was reported to have started in a trash can. There was minor damaged reported only to the affected room. Students' main concern was the length of time it took for the fire department to arrive on the scene. Student Chris Eley was quoted in the October 12th edition of The Rotunda as saying, "We sat outside for twenty minutes before we even realized that there was a real fire and it took at least half an hour for the fire trucks to show up." Dominos donated ten large pizzas to the clean up crew and the pizza man showed up before the fire department. Every campus fire opens students eyes and minds to the importance of fire safety. Thursday, October 29 marked the performance of Matthew Sweet in Lancer Hall. Many students counted down the days to the arrival of this up and coming musical star. At the time, his video "Girlfriend" could be viewed often on MTV. One student was quoted as saying, "I cannot believe that someone who is actually on MTV is coming to Longwood, in the middle of no where." It was truly a concert that should not have been missed.

—Julie Michelle Wiley

Geist members led off the Oktoberfest parade, signifying the begining of the festivities.

Faculty Spirit Leaders, Mrs. Palmer, Mike Whitford, Dr. Gussett, and Dr. Haga, enjoyed walking in the parade.

November

In November, the one meal of this year that every sudent looked forward to was The ARA Thanksgiving Dinner. Pictured to the side and below are two tables of students enjoying that infamous dinner. One freshman is quoted as saying, "This is much better than my mother's elaborate spread that I will eat on Thanksgiving." Servers were again various members from the Greek community. Hats off to ARA Dining Services for planning a wonderful sit down dinner for the estimated number of 2100 people. The baked Alaska was as good as always!!

Other happenings in November: Jarman was the location for many theatrical works, including "The Forest for the Trees", "The School for Wives", and the traveling production of "Hometown Christmas". Lancer Productions were responsible for bringing the movies "Batman Returns", "Boomerang", and "Lethal Weapon III", comedian Chris Penedleton, and Laser Karoake. The new Men's JV Basketball team played their first game against Fork Union on the 21st. The Musical Department sponsored many events including a Senior Rectial by Jana Davis & Christopher Kelly and a Chamber Music Series featuring Joanne Kong on the harpsichord.

The Presidential Election

For the majority of the the fall semester, the United States' Presidential Election was among one of the hot campus topics. In Longwood's mock debates and elections, Republican George Bush was determined the campus-wide favorite. Obviously, our small campus population is not an ideal sample of the total population when it comes to electing the Commander-in-Chief. The victor, Democrat Bill Clinton did have a few promising ideas, especially in the area of student loans. But to quote a popular, present day bumper sticker, "Don't blame me, I voted for Bush!!"

Republican supporters' efforts fell short of having the Bush/Quayle team re-elected to the White House in 1992.

Zhan Caplan dressed up as Bill Clinton for a mock Presidential debate.

December

One student showed off her Angel Tree purchase.

This December brought enormous amounts of Holiday spirit to Longwood's campus. The Angel Tree, sponsored by the Peer Helpers, in the Rotunda reminded the community to think of others during the 1992 X-mas season. The Dept. of Music presented The Nativity According to St. Luke for the X-mas Dinner and Concert. The performance took place in Blackwell on December 4 & 5 at 6:30 p.m. both nights. The Nativity Cast included Samuel Savage, Thomas A. Williams, Susan Curry, Tamlyn Leaf, Donna Dixon-Fisher, Joseph Servis, Shelly Hepler, Crystal Venters, Scott Joyce, and John Borowiec. Great performances were contributed by the Orchestra, Brass Ensemble, Camerata Singers, Christmas Concert Choir, Handbell Ensemble, Lancer Edition Show Choir, and a Saxophone Quartet. Every student and faculty member who performed and/or assisted in this year's X-mas Dinner and Concert should be commended for a job well done.

Numerous X-mas trees popped up all over campus.

December Commencement

The Honorable Donald S. Beyer, Jr. Lieutenant Governor, Commonwealth of Virginia

Due to the unusual large number of graduates who chose to participate in December Commencement, the ceremony was moved from Jarman Auditorium to Lancer Hall. The College Gym proved to be a wonderful arena to hold the Commencement Program. The keynote speaker was The Honorable Donald S. Beyer, Jr. Lieutenant Governor, Commonwealth of Virginia. He proposed to the graduating class to approach real life "by grabbing the bull by the horns" and always write personal thank-you notes after interviews. The Senior class was represented on the platform by Senior Class president Tara Confalone, Kimberly L. Graves, Tara Dieter, Shannon M. Holley, and Lisa S. Felton.

December gradute, Carolyn Wainwright Nelson returned to her seat after receiving her diploma.

Alma Mater

Faithful and devoted be thy Sons and Daughters forever,
Hail to Thee dear Alma Mater, Hail to Thee. All Hail.
Onward Ever Longwood, Proud and true eternally,
Thy love will always guide and protect and keep us faithful to Thee,
Thy love will always guide and protect and keep us faithful to Thee.

January/February

Longwood students returned, after celebrating the new year, to a new schedule, buying new books, and getting used to new professors' teaching styles. January Orientation successfully greeted and orientated the transfers and new students to Longwood. Pictured to the side are a few of the January Orientation Leaders. O.L.s possess a very original personality. They have to be spirited and very knowlegable about Longwood history, services, and activities. If you are interested in becoming an Orientation Leader (O.L.) contact Mary Kaye Cochran in Student Development. Participating in orientation is one of the most rewarding experiences available here at Longwood.

Two Alpha Delta Pis walked towards Lankford to welcome their new Alpha members at Walk.

Sigma Sigma Sigmas

Alpha Delta Pi sorority moved their entire hall and chapter room over the break. The Lion ladies were no longer found on first floor Stubbs, but fourth floor Stubbs. All their sisters were moved and settled just in time for the beginning of RUSH. For the past four years, January marks the time that first year men and women can choose to join the Greek System. Rush is a very exciting week and everyone, even Tina Baby, can feel it in the air.

In January, there was a wonderful tribute to Martin Luther King, Jr. on the 18th. Everyone that went gave rave reviews of the performance. On February 4th, country music superstar Roy Clark and his tour band, Rodney Lay and the Wild West, gave two benefit concerts for Longwood in Lancer Hall. Henry Fulcher, of WFLO radio, emceed both concerts. Proceeds from the concert went to create an endowment to provide travel funds for the performing ensembles in Longwood's Music Department. Mr. Clark is a native of Meherrin, a village just a few miles from Longwood. His parents, Hester and Lillian Clark, and other family members still live there. For 24 years, Mr. Clark has been the host of the TV show "Hee Haw", which is syndicated nationwide and viewed by some 30 million fans each week.

The Alpha Gams were out in full force with their balloons.

January and February proved to both be exciting, fun-filled months at Longwood.

February passed by with a blink of an eye, but before it was over Farmville had its first substantial snowfall in three years and Valentine's Day kept the local florists busy as usual. The Bedford Gallery was host for the Senior Art Shows of Cari Dellinger, Tonia Harris, Jonathan Hamer, and Emily Knick. Blackwell Dining Hall was the location of the Performing Arts Dinner Theater performance of "The Neptune Incident" on February 10th & 11th. On February 15th, Dr. James Cross was the keynote speaker for a dinner discussion on "Let Diversity Work for You." The day after Dr. Cross' speech, there was a panel discussion on "A Whole New World: Diversity in the 90's" in the Commons Room between Curry and Frazer.

Love was in the air during the week before Valentine's Day. It was a special day for many Longwood students whether or not their significant other attended Longwood or Hampden-Sydney or were at distant locations in the state or elsewhere. Carter's, Rochette's, and Paige's business always booms around the time of Valentine's Day.

Katie Allen anxiously waited to find out who was going to walk to ASA.

ZTAs and ASAs met their chapters' Rho Chis (rush counselors) to welcome them back after being deaffiliated.

Four Kappa Deltas were caught hanging out their chapter room window waiting for Walk to begin.

Walk is enjoyed by sorority women and fraternity men alike.

March
Spring Break!

The biggest occurence of March was the long awaited Spring Break of 1993. Longwood students were visible in numerous locations in Florida. Key West, Panama City, Orlando, and Daytona Beach were among the most popular. Members of Alpha Phi Omega also headed down to Florida during break, but their intentions were different from those expecting to rest, relax, and bask in the sun. APO members went down to assist in the Hurricane Relief Program. For five days, they worked from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. rebuilding the roof of a house that was blown off during the storm. Their nights were spent sleeping in tents in Manfred Camp. The Rotunda reports in their March 31, 1993 issue that "the group as a whole found it a great learning experience and a sense of deep appreciation and closeness with all of the others there." No matter where you went or what you did the blizzard that closed our school the Monday following Spring Break affected us all. Snow was on the record from New England to the Florida Panhandle. The snow might have cut people's time short in the Florida sun, but brought students back early to a deserted Farmville. To Bill, Land, Ray, Vince, and Susan – Tony's can be a really fun place on a Saturday night when there is only six people, excluding Mr. Perini, there. The ZTAs also got there chance to continue their Snowbunny tradition of bearing almost all in the snow.

A few newsworthy happenings in March included The Honor Board, SGA, and ARA dining services introducing a new Longwood ID that no longer has the student's birthdate included. This is a precaution to keep students from altering their current IDs in order to illegally purchase alcoholic beverages. On that note, the Virginia General Assembly voted to ban the sale of grain alcohol in the state beginning July 1st. All-in-all March 1993 was exciting.

Spring Weekend 1993 !!!

There are five things always associated with Longwood's Spring Weekend; Lancer Productions, Oozeball, BMOC, Chili, and FUN!!! This year there were no exceptions. The Chili Cook-off competition kicked off this year festivities 10:00 a.m. on April 17, 1993. Followed by a complimentary picnic from ARA and the chili tasting. After lunch, Lancer Production's special events lasted from noon to 6:00 p.m. They included Gyro Rides, Temporary Tatoos, Inflated Obstacle Course, Golf-a-go-go, Old Time Photos, Video Buttons, and Airball. WLCX provided music to listen to. Night time activities included BMOC sponsered by Zeta Tau Alpha. This year's winner was James Mauldin. Judges included Niki Fallis, Dr. Gussett, and TINA. Through this event, ZTA was again able to raise a large amount of money, all of which goes to their national philanthropy, Association for Retarded Citizens and Breast Cancer Awareness. A special note to all of the Ambassadors who run around during Spring Weekend "like a chicken with their head cut off". Because of you and your love for Longwood, we get to have a well organized Oozeball tournament and approximately 500 prospective students with parents, receive campus tours!!! Thank you for all your hard work and support.

Other news included the Board of Visitors meeting that increased in-state residential tuition by 7.51% and out-of-state residential tuition by 11.19%. The following year all students will see an increase of 17.5%. Franklin M. Slaydon, the Finance Committee chair, claimed that some of the additional funds will be used to "stop nickel and dime-ing students" through cutting some fees. (The Rotunda-April 26, 1993)

April seemed to pass at a blink of an eye, and the Seniors looked forward to a close approaching Commencement ceremony. Some were counting the hours, while others were dreading every moment that lasped.

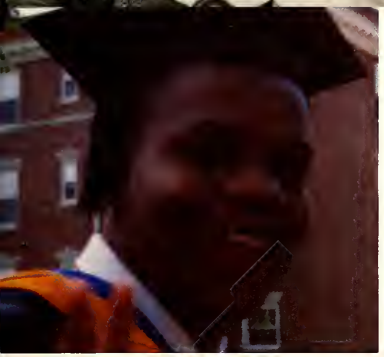
Chi Burning

"Remember that CHI is not those of us who have been chosen as individuals, but rather a spirit that can be found in the hearts and minds of those who seek its real purpose. You, Longwood, are the spark; you are the flame; you are the CHI for whom the fire burns!!" – CHI 1993

CHI 1993-Jack Breitbeil, Zhan Caplan, Jennifer Davidson, Indira Etwaroo, Tracey Fowlkes, William Ivie, Angela Jones, Motosuke Okitsu, John Russell, and Bryan Weaver

"The purpose of Chi is not inscribed upon paper, but can be found only in the hearts and minds of those who seek it. Chi is more than an organization, it is a spirit as old and as enduring as the school itself."

– The 1959 Virginian



The Commencement speaker was Justice Elizabeth B. Lacy. The graduating seniors were represented on the platform by Tara Confalone, Shannon Nunnally, Zhan Caplan, Chris Kelly, Christie Jo Carter, C.J. Maurice, and Jennifer Moore.

Greeks

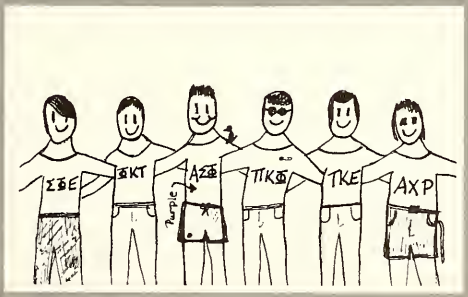
Steve Dealph, Greek Affairs Coordinator.

The Greek Community at Longwood repeatedly showed it's strength to the school and the nation, by continuing to win numerous awards. Steve Dealph, the Greek Affairs Coordinator, and LC's Panhel Council were both recognized by the Southeastern Panhellenic Council as the advisor and governing body of 1992 respectively, and in 1993 they were awarded the Service award for small colleges by SEPC. Both chapters of Alpha Sigma Tau and Zeta Tau Alpha were recognized by their national organizations as outstanding chapters. Our Alpha Sigma Alpha chapter brought home their national philanthropy award from their convention. The GAMMA chapter was recognized by BACCUS for outstanding alcohol-free programs.

At Longwood, Mike Macfarlane (Alpha Sig) and Julie Wiley (ASA) were awarded Greek Man and Woman of the Year. Riley Ross (AXP) and Megan Morra (ZTA) received the Outstanding Chapter President Awards. Mike Talomi (Alpha Sig) and Nancy Pillow (ASA) were recognized as Outstanding New Members. Alpha Kappa Alpha and Phi Kappa Tau won the Sisterhood and Brotherhood Awards. Sigma Sigma Sigma won numerous awards including Outstanding Leadership. The following pages exemplifies the various sides of the Greek Community at Longwood.

The Panhellenic Council consists of delegates and officers from each of the National Panhellenic members on this campus. The council serves as a voting body for issues dealing with all the sororities and is responsible for planning and assisting with Rush.



The Interfraternity Council (IFC) consists of members from each of the fraternities recognized on this campus. IFC serves as a voting body for issues concerning all the fraternities and as a liason between The fraternities and PanHel.

Philanthropic Projects

The Greek Community at Longwood is responsible for many philanthropic activities or better known as service projects. Each chapter has their own individual National Philanthropy that they share with all the chapters of their national organizations. For example, Pi Kappa Phi sponsors PUSH (People Understanding the Severely Handicapped), Alpha Delta Pi works with the Ronald McDonald House Foundation, and Alpha Sigma Alpha supports the Special Olympics and the S. June Smith Center. But most of the members efforts are reflected in the community of Farmville. Many chapters have adopted Grandparents at the local nursing homes and retirement centers. The Sig Epps were able to donate enough money to buy a computer for the Prince Edward Elementary School. Members of the Greek Community tutor school children in math, English, history, and reading. Fraternity Men have been spotted hauling boxes at the local food bank and raking leaves for elderly citizens.

The Holidays sparked many service activities. At Halloween the Alpha Gamms and TKEs took local children out to trick or treat to promote their safety. Around Christmas, many groups sponsored parties for the children of Farmville, with a Santa Claus and presents. Easter brought numerous egg hunts. PanHellenic Council and IFC sponsored a "Faculty Night Out". There were Greeks on hand to babysit children of the faculty, free of charge, to allow the faculty members a night out. It was a successful event, and hopefully more faculty will take advantage of it next year. Many people think that the only reason the fraternities and sororities exist is for purely social reasons, many people have thought wrong.

Scholarship

Sigmas celebrated December Comencement.

The Greek Community as a whole can boast to having a higher GPA than the all-student average. Many chapters this past year had their members do mandatory library hours. Some chapters divided members into study groups by classes or by majors. Some new members were given study buddies, who were older members in their same major.

The Greek community also sponsored excellent speakers to expand the entire campus' mind in worldly issues. The '92 Greek Week speaker was Maureen Syring, past Delta Gamma National President, sponsored by Stubbs Hall Council, IFC, PanHel, & AXP. Individually, ZTA brought in numerous speakers to talk about health issues including breast cancer.

Leadership

Membership into a fraternity or sorority increases chances of leadership opportunities. Not only are leadership positions available in the chapter, but the Greek Community and Longwood Campus too. The SGA President, Senior Class President, Judicial & Honor Board Chairs, Geist President, Yearbook Editor, Orientation Leader chairs, and numerous other campus positions have all been held by Greeks in the past year. Not only do Greeks strive for leadership in the community, but in the classroom too. The All-Greek GPA has been higher than the All-Student GPA for many years. Leadership is a learning experience all in itself. One learns to delegate jobs, work with people, and see something they might have never seen without that experience. Two members of the Longwood Community have been chosen to represent their chapter on a national level this year. Michael Macfarlane, Alpha Sigma Phi, and Julie Michelle Wiley, Alpha Sigma Alpha, will be traveling the United States for the upcoming year. The Greek Community proudly boasts a few of their prominent leaders on these two pages.

Greek Week '92

Greek Week was an exciting time for all the chapters this semester, especially Phi Kappa Tau. The Greek Community welcomed the new competition. The week, which always occurs during the Fall semester, started on Thursday, October 8, 1992, with an inspirational speech, during the break in Jarman Auditorium, by Maureen S. Syring, past National President of Delta Gamma, and the Lip Sync competition that night, in Blackwell Dining Hall. Friday night, the Interfraternity Council (IFC) and PanHellenic Council (PanHel) sponsered a concert by the Mosaics, a popular band from Radford. Mock awards for each of the fraternities and sororities were announced during the intermission of the concert. Over the weekend, the annual Greek Games took place. They included an obstacle course, pyramid building contest, Little Caesars pizza eating contest, egg toss, poker chip dig, the water balloon toss off Sigma balcony, and others. All chapter members enjoyed cheering their brothers or sisters on and watching the competition. The numerous week's activities came to an end on Tuesday, October 11th with the Greek Banquet in Blackwell Dining Hall, where the Greek Week champions were announced. Special thanks to the IFC and PanHel Greek Unity chairs, Debi DeVine (ASA) and Robert Doyle (AXP) for having planned an awesome action packed week. The Virginian Staff would like to thank the entire Greek Community for including the yearbook mug shots in the Greek Week points for individual chapters. The Greek Community's support alone helped to up the number of yearbook pictures taken by 350%. All-in-all Greek Week 1992 was an enjoyable success.

AXPs competed in the pyramid building contest.

Pi Kapps watched their brother Chad Knowles and AXP Scot W. compete in the pizza eating contest.

Tara Confalone enjoyed the view of Greek Week activities from the Sigma Sigma Sigma patio.

Season Summary

The 1992 edition of Longwood soccer finished up a successful season with a 10-8-1 record and a berth in the Virginia Intercollegiate Soccer Association Playoffs. The Lancers, regular season champ in the VISA Eastern Division at 5-0-0, lost a 1-0 decision to Randolph Macon in the VISA semifinals.

Recording its 11th winning season in the last 13 years, Longwood won the Southside Soccer Classic and the Gardner-Webb Tournament. The Lancers also qualified for the VISA Playoffs for the seventh time in the last 11 years.

The Lancers were led by senior tri-captains Jason Casano, Todd Dyer, and Byron Edwards. Dyer scored seven goals with four assists in '92 and ended his career with 15 goals. Edwards notched four assists and two goals. Longwood's leading scorer was Ross Johnson, a junior midfielder, who scored 10 goals with five assists.

Field Hockey 1992

Season Summary

Longwood's field hockey team finished with an outstanding record of 10-5-1 in 1992, the best record since 1987. Coach Sandy Bridgeman's squad just missed an opportunity to play for the Division II Championship as the NCAA selection committee chose Lock Haven, PA to represent the South Region instead of Longwood's team. Longwood had defeated Lock Haven, the eventual National Champions, 1-0, October 17th.

The NCAA Division II Lady Lancers played seven Division I opponents, defeating Radford and Appalachian State, while battling to a double-overtime tie with Wake Forest. Junior Missy Moran and Sophomore Mari Willen led the team in goals with eight each, with Moran adding nine assists for a team-high 25 points. Seniors Denise Hanley and Jenny Wuebker added three goals for Longwood.

Season Summary

Lady Lancer B-ball concluded with a record of 8-19 for 1992-93. A highlight came in Jan. when LC knocked off visiting West Chester 64-62 in Lancer. LC had fallen 101-65 to WCU Dec. 4th, a 38-point turnaround for coach Shirley Duncan's squad.

The best highlight was the play of junior Ana Litton. Litton picked her game up a notch following a season-ending injury to teammate Cassie Ensley and led LC in scoring (595 pts.), assists (95), steals (83), and three-pointers (46). Litton was selected a 1993 NCAA Div. II WBCA/Kodak Hon. Men. All-American, as well as receiving hon. men. on the VaSID College Div. All-State team. Litton established new school records for field goals in a season (242) and a game (18), while equaling the record for points in a game with 43 against Converse, Jan. 14th.

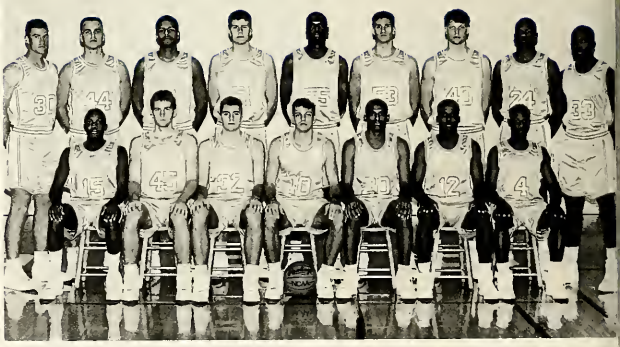
Lone senior Cari D. finished her LC career with 237 points and 260 rebounds, sadly missing 13 games this year with a broken finger.

Men's Basketball '92-'93

Season Summary

Beating several nationally ranked teams, LC ended the 1992-93 men's b-ball season with a record of 17-10, the best mark for a Lancer team in 4 years. Turning the season around after a 4-6 start, LC went 13-4 the rest of the way. Over the final two months, the Lancers beat 20-game winner Queens (N.C.) College twice, knocked off NAIA 3rd-ranked Pfeiffer 72-68, and whipped Div. III 12th ranked Ferrum 100-66. The win at Pfeiffer ended the Falcons' home win streak at 42 straight.

Winning 9 of 10 games at one point, LC showed solid improvement defensively. In 27 games, the Lancers allowed just six teams to score 75 or more points. A team with exceptional balance, LC got solid contributions from eight players all year scoring averages ranging from 5.8 to 13.3 for those eight. Leading scorers were junior Charles Brown (13.3) and senior captain Bryan Weaver (13.0, 7.5 reb.) Senior Chuck Laster averaged 10.6 points and guard Michael Druitt handed off 133 assists while scoring 8.6 ppg.



(L to R) 1st Row: W. Foxx, T. Wools, J.B. Neill, K. Crabtree, C. Brown, M. Druitt, D. Johnson. 2nd Row: M. Watkins, B. Weaver, B. Webb, A. Bortz, J. Jones, A. Huffman, E. Shelburne, E.G. Reid, C. Laster. Absent: B. Whitehurst.

Women's Golf '92-'93

Season Summary

Longwood, ranked number one among Division II teams most of the season, will be hoping for its fourth NGCA Division II National Title May 10-12 in South Hadley, Mass. After compiling a fine record for coach Cindy Ho.

Led by senior captain Anna Radford and sophomores Charlaine Coetzee and Brenda Campbell-Harris, Longwood won its own Tina Barrett/Longwood Invitational and UNC Greensboro Invitational in the fall. The Lady Lancers finished third out of eleven teams at the William and Mary Invitational in the spring.

Longwood had a fine 324.0 stroke average for fall play. While Coetzee and Radford tied for low stroke average honors in the fall at 79.4, Campbell-Harris was right behind at 80.2. All three golfers have averages in the low 80's for the spring. Ana Radford shot 73-77-150 to win the Tina Barrett/Longwood Invitational.

Fall Team: Anna Radford, Nikki Bone, Brenda Campbell-Harris, Charlaine Coetzee, Michelle Ziats, Janine Ballow, Anna Holm.

Men's Golf '92-'93

Season Summary

The Lancer men's golf squad finished with a winning record in match play for the fifth straight season. Sporting an 8-1-1 mark, coach Steve Nelson's team completed fall play with a 315.7 stroke average, best in Longwood's men's golf history.

Highlighting spring play was a tri-match victory in North Carolina in early March and a second place finish at the Virginia Collegiate Tournament in mid-April. Additionally, senior Steve Crute had an outstanding spring with a 77.5 average. Crute's 77.6 average for the year is third-best all-time.

Top fall individual averages belonged to Crute (77.6), freshman Eric Levin (78.9), and junior Jimmy Ward (81.0). Top spring averages included Levin (79.7), senior Frank Davide (82.2), and junior Shawn Moore (82.0). On the season, after Crute, Levin finished with a 79.4, Moore 81.7, Davide 81.9 and Ward 82.8.

Women's Tennis

Season Summary

Longwood's women's tennis team, saddled with a 5-4 loss at Randolph-Macon April 20, 1993, had a 6-2 record for the spring after falling to the Jackets. The Lady Lancers had won twelve matches in a row before dropping two of three matches during the end of the season. Coupled with a 7-1 record in the fall, Longwood's 6-2 spring mark gives the team a 13-3 ledger for the year, one of the best overall marks in the school's tennis history.

Starting with No. 1 Jenny Holm (9-2) and going down the line, all the Lady Lancers had winning singles marks for the year (fall and spring). No. 2 Melanie Saunders (12-3), No. 3 Kelley Regan (14-2), and No. 4 Jennifer Whitlow (12-2) did well as did No. 5 Amy Thomas (10-6) and No. 6 Kris Stevens (9-3). Alexandra Meighan was 8-0 in the fall before being sidelined by an injury in the spring. Freshman Jenny Divina was 11-3 in doubles with various partners.

Jr. Kim Chapman and freshman Diana Biondi combined for over 100 saves in goals while allowing opponents just 7 goals per game with 1 shutout.

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

Former Longwood All-American In Ninth Pro Season

Kersey, Blazers Look For Return To NBA Finals

Former Longwood All-American Jerome Kersey and the Portland Trailblazers have advanced to the NBA Finals two of the past three seasons. Some observers have picked the Trailblazers to return to the finals again this year.

Last year Kersey averaged 12.6 points, 8.2 rebounds, 3.2 assists, 1.5 steals and 33.2 minutes in 77 games as the Blazers won the Western Conference title and lost to the Bulls in the Finals. He also blocked 71 shots to rank second on the team.

Hampered late in the season by a left shoulder contusion and a sore right ankle, he missed the final three regular season games. In the playoffs he averaged 16.2 points, 7.7 rebounds and 30.8 minutes, shooting .510 from the field. He enjoyed an outstanding conference finals series against Utah, firing at a .551 rate from the field while scoring 19.5 points a game. During the year he collected 10 or more rebounds in 26 outings (just two shy of his career best, 1989-90) and 22 double-doubles (points, rebounds).

Kersey, a 6-7, 225-pound small forward, is in his ninth season with Portland. His career numbers with the Blazers are mounting.

He ranks on Portland's all–time lists for games played (3rd, 625), minutes played (5th, 17,622), scoring (7th, 8365), rebounding (4th, 4085), steals (4th, 856) and blocked shots (4th, 497). Kersey also ranks third on Portland's all-time playoff scoring list with 1286 points. That's 67th on the NBA's all-time playoff scoring register.

Kersey signed a four-year contract extension with Portland in November, 1990 which is good through the 1995-96 season. The pact was reportedly worth about $11 million.

Known for his vicious dunks and hustling, all-out style of play, Jerome is one of the most exciting players in the NBA. In 1987 he was runner-up to Michael Jordan in the NBA Slam Dunk Championship. After the 1987-88 season he was fifth in voting for the NBA's Most Improved Player award.

Active in fundraising support for the Boys and Girls Club of Portland, Kersey made his first official return to Longwood's Lancer Hall in October when he scored 38 points in the sixth Longwood Alumni Basketball game.

The 46th player taken in the 1984 NBA draft, Kersey is a native of Clarksville, Va. In his four-year career at Longwood, Jerome scored 1,756 points and grabbed 1,162 rebounds. The top rebounder in Division II in his last campaign, Kersey averagd 14.2 caroms and 19.6 points.

He holds Longwood records for most blocked shots (7) and rebounds (26) in a game, and ranks among career leaders in assists (259) and steals (251).

A first team All-American in Division II, Kersey was also named Player of the Year in both the Mason-Dixon Conference and the state of Virginia among College Division players. Following his senior season, Jerome was the leading rebounder and an All-Star team member in the Portsmouth Invitational Tournament.

In addition to all the points, rebounds, steals and blocked shots, Kersey will perhaps be best remembered at Longwood as a player who went all-out all the time. His accomplishments speak for themselves.

TRIBUTE

Dr. Rosemary Sprague

A Longwood Tradition

Rosemary Sprague came to Longwood as an Associate Professor of English in 1962. In 1967 she was named the College's first Board of Vistors Distinguished Professor. She holds the B.A. degree in English literature from Bryn Mawr College, and the M.A. and Ph.D degrees from Case Western Reserve University. She has pursued postdoctoral at the Shakespeare Institute at Sratford-on-Avon, Oxford University, and the University of London.

Dr. Sprague has published seven historical novels, biographies of Robert Brownings and George Eliot, and IMAGINARY GARDENS, a Study of Five American Poets. She has edited a volume of Robert Browning's poetry.

Dr. Sprague is the founder of the Victorians Society of Virginian and North Carolina. She is a member of the usual professional organizations, including the Authors Guild, and she has served as president of the Virginia Conference of the American Association of University Professors.

She has recently completed a three-year term as State Historian of the Virginia Daughters of the American Revolution.

—Taken from the jacket of Longwood College: A History, written by Rosemary Sprague.

My first class as a freshman at Longwood, was Honors English 100 with Dr. Rosemary Sprague. I sat in that room in the old Grainger building and finally came to the realization, "I was in COLLEGE !!!" I feel as though I was truly lucky to have been placed in Dr. Sprague's class, way back in the fall semester of 1988. She helped me to see the vison of English as being more than dredging through Shakespeare. I went on to have Dr. Sprague for Honors English 101 and British Literature. She was the main reason I picked up my English specialization to add to my math specialization with my education degree. I owe a lot to Dr. Sprague. She touched my life in a way that not many teachers ever had. I pushed myself to succeed only to make her proud of my accomplishments. For a solid year, my class had week-to-week updates on the progress of her book about Longwood's History. She worked hard and long to complete that book with lovingly researched facts and detail. Her dog listened during numerous class lectures and every personal conference or chat we shared. I was appaulled when I first heard of the Ambassadors raffleing off her parking space as a fundraiser, but after long consideration, I realized that Dr. Sprague would have found great humor from the idea and would have whole heartedly supported it; so, I did also. I shame myself for never telling her how much she meant to me, but of course, I never expected her to go any where. She would be one of the professors I would return to visit after I graduated, but now that is impossible.

I look back and see in the three short years that I knew her, what an impact she had on Longwood's entire community. She is truly apart of Longwood's history that will be missed. The 1993 Virginian staff proudly dedicate this edition of Longwood's yearbook posthumously to Dr. Rosemary Sprague, a legendary Longwood tradition.

ALPHA CHAPTER

All work & no play would make Longwood a dull place!

IN HER WORDS

Special Thanks:

Without the following people . . .

Phyllis Mabel—for being very supportive when I went to her with the crazy idea of reviving the yearbook and allowing us to include order forms in her summer '92 mailout.

SGA—for realizing The Virginian is an important part of Longwood's history and allocating the funds to continue it.

The Housing Office—for puting up with while I needed Lynette.

C.J. Maurice, Zhan Caplan, Tara Confalone, & John Benton—for being my personal cheerleaders and helping me in every way they knew possible.

Panhel & IFC—for allowing our mug shots to be a part of Greek Week '92!!!

The Greek Community—for enthusiastically getting their pictures taken and the numerous candids mailed to us to be placed in this book.

Mary Kaye Cochran & All the O.L.s—for helping me recruit freshmen to be on the yearbook staff and selling books to parents at Preview and January Orientation. I really appreciate everyones support and patience as I rambled on about this book at all our orientation activities.

Steve Dealph—for just being a good friend & listener and someone who truly understood everything I stressed over during the year.

Joyce Trent—for being my second mother eventhough I wasn't a lady in green and helping me even when I didn't ask.

Sports Information—for all the pictures and information in the sports section of this book. Without Hoke Curry and Greg Prouty, a sport section would not have existed.

The Rotunda—for pictures, Brad scaring me, printing numerous personals and ads for The Virginian, and the bad press in September, if anything it boosted our book sales!!!

People Magazine—for allowing us to use their trademark and artwork.

My sisters in Alpha Sigma Alpha—for being my yearbook support group, ordering books, hearing me complain, donating pictures to the cause, and having 97% of us show up for mug shots. I am proud to call each and everyone of you my sister, but most importantly, my friend.

My freshman seminar class from Tabb & French—I know I brainwashed ya'll with this book and even tricked you into getting your pictures taken. I hope this well represents your freshman year at Longwood. Do you think you are orientated enough? So, did I do a good job???

My parents, Ben and Martha Wiley—thank you for being so supportive the entire five years I was at Longwood and especially while I was at home completeing this book. I love you both more than words can explain and I realized I was the luckiest person on earth when you opened you hearts and chose to adopt a child, and I was that child.

Allison Demski & Ann Guiberson

. . . this book would have never been created!!!

Freshman Seminar Class #27

The Virginian

June 14, 1993

I sit here typing this final letter, something I thought would never happen this time last year, and I realize this is the last task I have to complete as a Longwood student. The thought deeply saddens me. For a place that I was going to transfer out of after my freshman year, I never expected to stay five years and graduate. I look back at my Longwood experience and see the PEOPLE who individually influenced and help me grow as a person. I take with me the five greatest years of my life, knowledge, career opportunities, and truly wonderful friends. I hope this edition of The Virginian can show strangers to Longwood, what a really special place it is. I envy the new freshman class entering in the fall; they have so much to learn, gain and experience.

My vision for this book was to center it around the true spirit of Longwood, it's tradition and the PEOPLE who year after year carry on those traditions. As I taxed my brain searching for a proper theme, one word kept popping up, PEOPLE. And that is where the idea of modeling the yearbook after People Magazine was born. I again thank them for allowing us to use their trademark. It really is the PEOPLE who make our school. A 1932 graduate could return to walk through the Rotunda she remembers, but it will not be the same school because it no longer contains the same PEOPLE. As a yearbook staff, we tried to minimize useless words and fill that space with pictures of PEOPLE and times from the past year the Longwood community could remember.

I sincerely hope that you enjoy this book as much as The Virginian staff has had putting it together. The Virginian is a Longwood tradition that with your help will never die. Your continued support will assist us so that Longwood's yearbook will never have to be revived again. Enjoy!!!!

Sincerely,

Julie Michelle Wiley
